

The Business Performance Series. Join us for our next Interim Management roundtable...
“Transforming the Performance Culture.”

Why should you engage in the roundtable discussion?

Many of our leading clients are currently finding themselves challenged more than ever with the speed at which they need to change and re-engineer their business to become more agile and innovative and aligned for success in 2010.

Competitive strategies include mergers and acquisitions, restructures, outsourcing, streamlining or downsizing of their organisations.

Employers are facing dilemmas in how best to handle these initiatives, with the prospect of moving employees around or out of an organisation - another raft of change management that in many businesses will create greater instability and disengagement with many of the high performing and high potential employees.

At Rialto, as a leading HR Change Management specialist we have developed a programme that we believe is a new alternative to the sheer cost, personal stress and de-stabilisation that traditional change management inevitably brings.

We would like to invite you to a mini round table discussion to learn more about this solution, with an opportunity to partner with Rialto in introducing and delivering within your unique business relationship.

We are looking to develop a lucrative and sustainable long term partnership with a small number of highly experienced Interim Executives and would value your contribution and insights.

Please join us:
