

DJAMILA AMIMER

Dr Djamila Amimer is an AI Global Thought Leader, AI Business Consultant and Speaker.

BACKGROUND AND EXPERIENCE

Djamila has over 20-year business experience with a broad range of skills across AI, machine learning, commercial deals, business strategy, energy, supply chain, shipping & trading, business resilience and climate change.

Djamila has a PhD in Artificial Intelligence and Economics. She has developed frameworks and novel AI techniques in the area of investment decisions, dealing with uncertainty in project evaluation. Djamila is currently ranked among Top 20 AI Global Thought Leaders.

Djamila's main mission is to help businesses and organisations apply AI and unlock its full potential. She has a track record in leading teams, delivering results and focusing on performance. She brings clarity to complex concepts and deliver strongly underpinned messages to executives.

Djamila is passionate about AI for good and would like to make AI accessible to everyone. She frequently speaks on AI, acts as an AI mentor for UCL enterprise and innovation programme and contributes to MIT Technology Review Insights as a global panellist. Djamila is a board member of "We and AI", an organisation that aims to raise public awareness around AI risks and opportunities in the UK.