

BEN MEADE

BACKGROUND & EXPERIENCE

Ben helps you unlock the power of your information by better understanding it, looking after it properly and maximising its value.

He owns decades of experience in data, governance and IT, working across a wide range of organisations and sectors, including healthcare, legal, travel services, utilities, financial software & not-for-profits in both UK and global roles - most recently as CIO for one of the UK's largest private healthcare providers.

Ben is also the creator of Information Fitness®, an innovative, holistic approach to ensure that the information you choose & use drives joined-up, effective decision-making, action-taking & record-keeping, protecting & accelerating value creation, leading to better performance & outcomes.

Ben's specialist consultancy Ringfence is now helping organisations worldwide become more 'information fit' for the modern, digital world, including increased adoption of AI.
